APPEAL by shareholders of debtor companies from judgment reported at 2001 CarswellOnt 1784, 25 C.B.R. (4th) 24 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]), assessing fees and disbursements of court-appointed receiver and its solicitors.

Borins J.A.:

1 This is an appeal by Mario Parravano and Barbara Parravano from the assessment of a court-appointed receiver's fees and disbursements, including the fees of its solicitors, Goodmans, Goodman and Carr and Kavinoky and Cook, consequent to the receiver's motion to pass its accounts. The motion judge assessed the fees and disbursements in the amounts presented by the receiver. The appellants ask that the order of the motion judge be set aside and that the receiver's motion to pass its accounts be heard by a different judge of the Commercial List, or that the accounts be referred for assessment, with the direction that the appellants be permitted to cross-examine both a representative of the receiver and of the solicitors in respect to their fees and disbursements.

Introduction

2 On October 3, 2000, on the application of the Laurentian Bank of Canada (the "bank"), Spence J. appointed KPMG Inc. ("KPMG") as the receiver and manager of all present and future assets of five companies ("the companies"). Collectively, the companies carried on a large bakery, cereal bar and muffin business that employed 158 people and generated annual sales of approximately $24 million. The companies were owned by Mario and Barbara Parravano (the "Parravanos") who had guaranteed part of the companies' debts to the bank. Upon its appointment, KPMG continued to operate the business of the companies pending analysis as to the best course of action. As a result of its analysis, KPMG decided to continue the companies' operations and pursue "a going concern" asset sale.

3 Paragraph 22 of the order of Spence J. reads as follows:

> THIS COURT ORDERS that, prior to the passing of accounts, the Receiver shall be at liberty from time to time to apply a reasonable amount of the monies in its hands against its fees and disbursements, including reasonable legal fees and disbursements, incurred at the standard rates and charges for such services rendered either monthly or at such longer or shorter intervals as the Receiver deems appropriate, and such amounts shall constitute advances against its remuneration when fixed from time to time.

4 The receiver was successful in attracting a purchaser and received the approval of Farley J. on December 21, 2000, to complete the sale of substantially all of the assets of the companies for approximately $6,500,000. The transaction closed on December 28, 2000.

5 The receiver presented two reports to the court for its approval. In the first report, presented on December 15, 2000, KPMG outlined its activities from the date of its appointment and requested approval of the sale of the companies' assets. The second report, which is the subject of this appeal, was presented on February 2, 2001. The second report contained the following information:

- an outline of KPMG's activities subsequent to the sale of the companies' assets;
- a statement of KPMG's receipts and disbursements on behalf of the companies;
- KPMG's proposed distribution of the net receipts;
- a summary of KPMG's fees and disbursements supported by detailed descriptions of the activities of its personnel by person and by day;
- a list of legal fees and disbursements of its solicitors supported by detailed billings.

In its second report, KPMG recommended that the court, inter alia, approve its fees and disbursements, as well as the fees and disbursements of Goodmans, calculated on the basis of hours multiplied the hourly rates of the personnel. The total time billed by KPMG was 3,215 hours from October 3, 2000 to December 31, 2000 at hourly rates that ranged from $175 to $550. Its disbursements included the fees and disbursements of its solicitors. Each report was signed on behalf of KPMG by its Senior Vice-President, Richard A. Morawetz.

6 In summary, KPMG sought approval of the following:

- receiver's fees and disbursements of $1,080,874.93, inclusive of GST.
- legal fees of Goodmans of $209,803.46, inclusive of GST.
- legal fees of Goodman and Carr of $92,292.32, inclusive of GST.
- legal fees of Kavinoky & Cook of $2,583.23.

7 The Parravanos objected to the amount of the fees and disbursements of KPMG and Goodmans. Their grounds of objection were that the time spent and the hourly rates charged by the receiver and Goodmans were excessive. They submitted that the fees of KPMG and Goodmans were not fair and reasonable. They also sought to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz with respect to their grounds of objection. The motion judge refused to permit Mr. Pape, counsel for the Parravanos, to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz on the ground that a receiver, being an officer of the court, is not subject to cross-examination on its report. However, the motion judge permitted Mr. Pape as the judge's "proxy" to ask questions of Mr. Morawetz, who was not sworn. The motion judge then approved the fees and disbursements of the receiver and Goodmans in the amounts as submitted in the receiver's report without any reduction.

8 The appellants appeal on the following grounds:

(1) The motion judge exhibited a demonstrable bias against the appellants and their counsel as a result of which the appellants were denied a fair hearing;

(2) The motion judge erred in holding that on the passing of its accounts a court-appointed receiver cannot be cross-examined on the amount of the fees and disbursements in respect to which it seeks the approval of the court; and

(3) The motion judge erred in finding that the receiver's fees and disbursements, and those of its solicitors, Goodmans, were fair and reasonable.

9 For the reasons that follow, the appellants have failed to establish that they were denied a fair hearing on the grounds that the motion judge was biased against them and their counsel and that they were not permitted to cross-examine the receiver's representative, Mr. Morawetz, on the receiver's accounts. As I will explain, the examination of Mr. Morawetz that was permitted by the motion judge afforded the appellants' counsel a fair opportunity to challenge the remuneration claimed. As well, the appellants have provided no grounds on which the court can interfere with the motion judge's finding that the receiver's accounts were fair and reasonable. However, the accounts of the receiver's solicitors, Goodmans, stand on a different footing. The motion judge failed to give these accounts separate consideration. I would, therefore, allow the appeal to that extent and order that there be a new assessment of Goodmans' accounts.

Reasons of the motion judge

10 The reasons of the motion judge are reported as Bakemates International Inc. Re (2001), 25 C.B.R. (4th) 24 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]).

11 In the first part of his reasons, the motion judge provided his decision on the request of the appellants' counsel to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz with respect to the receiver's accounts. He began his consideration of this issue at p. 25:

> Perhaps it is the height — or depth — of audacity for counsel for the Parravanos to come into court expecting that he will be permitted (in fact using the word "entitled") to cross-examine the Receiver's representative (Mr. Richard Morawetz) in this court appointed receivership concerning the Receiver's fees and disbursements (including legal fees).

After reviewing two of his own decisions — Anvil Range Mining Corp., Re (2001), 21 C.B.R. (4th) 194 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]) and Mortgage Insurance Co. of Canada v. Innisfil Landfill Corp. (1995), 30 C.B.R. (3d) 100 (Ont. Gen. Div. [Commercial List]) — the motion judge concluded that because a receiver is an officer of the court who is required to report to the court in respect to the conduct of the receivership, a receiver cannot be cross-examined on its report.

12 In support of this conclusion, the motion judge relied on the following passage from his reasons for judgment in Mortgage Insurance at pp. 101-102:

> As to the question of there not being an affidavit of the Receiver to cross-examine on, I am somewhat puzzled by this. I do not understand that a Receiver, being an officer of the Court and being appointed by Court Order is required to give his reports by affidavit. I note that there is a jurisprudence to the effect that it would have to be at least unusual circumstances for there to be any ability of other parties to examine (cross-examine in effect) the Receiver on any report. However, I do acknowledge that in, perhaps what some might characterize as a tearing down of an institution in the rush of counsel "to get to the truth of the matter" (at least as perceived by counsel), Receivers have sometimes obliged by making themselves available for such examination. Perhaps the watchword should be the three Cs of the Commercial List — cooperation, communication and common sense. Certainly, I have not seen any great need for (cross-) examination when the Receiver is willing to clarify or amplify his material when such is truly needed [emphasis added].

13 As authority for the proposition that a receiver, as an officer of the court, is not subject to cross-examination on his or its report, the motion judge relied on Avery v. Avery, [1954] O.W.N. 364 (Ont. H.C.) and Silver v. Kalen (1984), 52 C.B.R. (N.S.) 320 (Ont. H.C.). He went on to say at p. 26 that when there are questions about a receiver's compensation, "[t]he more appropriate course of action" is for the disputing party "to interview the court officer [the receiver] . . . so as to allow the court officer the opportunity of clarifying or amplifying the material in response to questions".

14 The motion judge noted on p. 26 that the appellants' counsel had "not provided any factual evidence/background to substantiate that there were unusual circumstances" in respect to the rates charged and the time spent by the receiver. Consequently, he concluded that it was not an appropriate case to exercise what he perceived to be his discretion to allow the Parravanos' counsel to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz on the passing of the receiver's accounts. At p. 27, he stated: "Mr. Pape has not established any grounds for doing that."

15 Nevertheless, the motion judge did permit Mr. Pape to question Mr. Morawetz. His explanation for why he did so, the conditions that he imposed on Mr. Pape's examination, and his comments on Mr. Pape's "interview" of Mr. Morawetz, are found at p. 27:

> Mr. Pape has observed that Mr. Morawetz is here to answer any questions that I may have as to the fees and disbursements. While Mr. Pape has no right or entitlement to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz with respect to the fees and disbursements — and he ought to have availed himself of any last minute follow-up interview/questions last week if he thought that necessary, I see no reason why Mr. Pape may not be permitted to ask appropriate questions to Mr. Morawetz covering these matters — in essence as my proxy. However, Mr. Pape will have to conduct himself appropriately (as I am certain that he will — and I trust that I will not be disappointed), otherwise the questioning will be stopped as I would stop myself if I questioned inappropriately. Mr. Morawetz is under an obligation already as a court appointed officer to tell the truth; it will not be necessary for him to swear another/affirm [sic] — he may merely acknowledge his obligation to tell the truth. It is redundant but I think necessary to point out that this is not the preferred route nor should it be regarded as a precedent.
> [There then followed the interview of Mr. Morawetz by Mr. Pape and submissions. I cautioned Mr. Pape a number of times during the interview that he was going beyond what was reasonable in the circumstances and that Mr. Morawetz was entitled to give a full elaboration and explanation.]

16 In the second part of his reasons, the motion judge considered the amount of the compensation claimed by the receiver and its solicitors, Goodmans. He began at p. 27 by criticizing Mr. Pape "for attempting to show that Mr. Morawetz was not truthful or was misleading" in the absence of any expert evidence from the appellants in respect to the time spent and the hourly rates charged by the receiver in the course of carrying out its duties.

17 In assessing the receiver's accounts, the motion judge made the following findings:

> (1) This was an operating receivership in which the receiver operated the companies for three months so that the companies' assets could be sold as a going concern.
> (2) Usually, an operating receivership will require a more intensive and extensive use of a receiver's personnel than a liquidation receivership.
>
> (3) The receivership was difficult and "rather unique".
>
> (4) Mr. Morawetz scrutinized the bills before they were finalized "so that inappropriate charges were not included".
> (5) It was not "surprising" that the receiver was required to use many members of its staff to operate the companies' businesses given what he perceived to be problems created by the Parravanos.
> (6) It was necessary to use the receiver's personnel to conduct an inventory count in a timely and accurate way for the closing of the sale of the companies' assets.
> (7) Mr. Morawetz "had a very good handle on the work and the worth of the legal work".

18 The motion judge assessed, or passed, the receiver's accounts, including those of its solicitors, Goodmans, in the amounts requested by the receiver in its report. He gave no effect to the objections raised by the appellants. On a number of occasions, he empahsized that there was no contrary evidence from the appellants that, presumably, might have caused him to reduce the fees claimed by the receiver or its solicitors.

19 He referred to Spence J.'s order appointing KPMG as the receiver, in particular para. 22 of the order as quoted above, and observed at p. 30:

> While certainly not determinative of the issue, that order does contemplate in paragraph 22 a charging system based on standard rates (i.e. docketed hours × hourly rate multiplicand). That would of course be subject to scrutiny — and adjustment as necessary.

20 He also noted that the appellants had relied on his own decision in BT-PR Realty Holdings Inc. v. Coopers & Lybrand, [1997] O.J. No. 1097 (Ont. Gen. Div. [Commercial List]) in which he had said:

> [An indemnity agreement] is not a licence to let the taxi meter run without check. The professional must still do the job economically. He cannot take his fare from the court house to the Royal York Hotel via Oakville.

As to the application of this observation to the circumstances of this case, the motion judge said at pp. 31-32:

> I am of the view that subject to the checks and balances of Chartrand v. De la Ronde (1999), 9 C.B.R. (4th) 20 (Man. Q.B.) a fair and reasonable compensation can in proper circumstances equate to remuneration based on hourly rates and time spent. Further I am of the view that the market is the best test of the reasonableness of the hourly rates for both receivers and their counsel. There is no reason for a firm to be compensated at less than their normal rates (provided that there is a fair and adequate competition in the marketplace). See Chartrand; also Prairie Palace Motel Ltd. v. Carlson (1980), 35 C.B.R. (N.S.) 312 (Sask. Q.B.). No evidence was led of lack of competition (although I note that Mr. Pape asserts that legal firms and accounting firms had a symbiotic relationship in which neither would complain of the bill of the other).

What would be of interest here is whether the rates presented are in fact sustainable. In other words are these firms able to collect 100 cents on the dollar of their "rack rate" or are there write-offs incurred related to the collection process?

Issues and Analysis

21 In my view, there are three issues to be considered. The first issue is the alleged bias of the motion judge against the appellants and their counsel. The second issue is the proper procedure to be followed by a court-appointed receiver on seeking court approval of its remuneration and that of its solicitor. This procedural issue arises from the second ground of appeal in which the appellants assert that the motion judge erred in precluding their lawyer from cross-examining the receiver in respect to the remuneration that it requested. The third issue is whether the motion judge erred in finding that the remuneration requested by the receiver for itself and its solicitor was fair and reasonable.

(1) Bias

22 I turn now to the first issue. If I am satisfied that the appellants were denied a fair hearing because the motion judge exhibited a demonstrable bias against the appellants and their counsel, it will be unnecessary to consider the other grounds of appeal since the appellants would be entitled to a new hearing before a different judge. As I will explain, I see no merit in this ground of appeal.

23 The appellants submit that the motion judge acted with bias against their counsel, Mr. Pape. They rely on the following circumstances as demonstrating the motion judge's bias:

- the motion judge took offence to Mr. Pape having arranged for a court reporter to be present at the hearing.
- the motion judge was affronted by Mr. Pape's request to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz on the receiver's accounts.
- the first paragraph of the motion judge's ruling with respect to Mr. Pape's request to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz (which is quoted in para. 11) demonstrates that the motion judge was not maintaining his impartiality.
- in his ruling the motion judge curtailed the scope of the questions Mr. Pape was permitted to ask Mr. Morawetz and admonished Mr. Pape that he would "have to conduct himself properly".
- Mr. Pape's examination of Mr. Morawetz was curtailed by multiple interjections by the motion judge favouring the receiver.
- the motion judge's ruling on the passing of the receiver's accounts disparaged the appellants and Mr. Pape, in particular, by commenting with sarcasm and derision on Mr. Pape's lawyering.

24 Public confidence in the administration of justice requires the court to intervene where necessary to protect a litigant's right to a fair hearing. Any allegation that a fair hearing was denied as a result of the bias of the presiding judge is a serious matter. It is particularly serious when made against a sitting judge by a senior and respected member of the bar.

25 The test for reasonable apprehension of bias on the part of a presiding judge has been stated by the Supreme Court of Canada in a number of cases. In dissenting reasons in Committee for Justice & Liberty v. Canada (National Energy Board) (1976), 68 D.L.R. (3d) 716 (S.C.C.), at 735, which concerned the alleged bias of the chairman of the National Energy Board, Mr. Crowe, de Grandpré J. stated:

> The proper test to be applied in a matter of this type was correctly expressed by the Court of Appeal. As already seen by the quotation above, the apprehension of bias must be a reasonable one, held by reasonable and right-minded persons, applying themselves to the question and obtaining thereon the required information. In the words of the Court of Appeal [at p. 667], that test is "what would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically — and having thought the matter through — conclude. Would he think that it is more likely than not that Mr. Crowe, whether consciously or unconsciously, would not decide fairly?"

26 This test was adopted by a majority of the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. S. (R.D.) (1997), 151 D.L.R. (4th) 193 (S.C.C.). Speaking for the majority, Cory J. expanded upon the test at pp. 229-230:

> This test has been adopted and applied for the past two decades. It contains a two-fold objective element: the person considering the alleged bias must be reasonable, and the apprehension of bias itself must also be reasonable in the circumstances of the case. . . . Further the reasonable person must be an informed person, with knowledge of all the relevant circumstances, including "the traditions of integrity and impartiality that form a part of the background and apprised also of the fact that impartiality is one of the duties the judges swear to uphold"[emphasis in original].

27 Cory J. concluded at pp. 230-31:

> Regardless of the precise words used to describe the test, the object of the different formulations is to emphasize that the threshold for a finding of real or perceived bias is high. It is a finding that must be carefully considered since it calls into question an element of judicial integrity. Indeed an allegation of reasonable apprehension of bias calls into question not simply the personal integrity of the judge, but the integrity of the entire administration of justice. . . . Where reasonable grounds to make such an allegation arise, counsel must be free to fearlessly raise such allegations. Yet, this is a serious step that should not be undertaken lightly.

28 My review of the transcript of the proceedings and the reasons of the motion judge leads me to conclude that the appellants have failed to satisfy the test. The most that can be said about the motion judge's reaction to the presence of a court reporter, his interjections during the cross-examination of Mr. Morawetz and his reference to Mr. Pape's lawyering in his reasons for judgment, is that he evinced an impatience or annoyance with Mr. Pape. In the circumstances of this case, the motion judge's impatience or annoyance with Mr. Pape does not equate with judicial support for either Mr. Morawetz or the receiver. To the extent that the motion judge's interjections during the examination of Mr. Morawetz reveal his state of mind, they suggest only some impatience with Mr. Pape and a desire to keep the examination moving forward. They did not prevent counsel from conducting a full examination of Mr. Morawetz.

29 Considered in the context of the entire hearing, the circumstances relied on by the appellants do not come close to the type of judicial conduct that would result in an unfair hearing. I would not, therefore, give effect to this ground of appeal.

(2) The procedure to be followed on the passing of the accounts of a court-appointed receiver

30 In my view, the motion judge erred in equating the procedure to be followed for approving the receiver's conduct of the receivership with the procedure to be followed in assessing the receiver's remuneration. The receiver's report to the court contained information on its conduct of the receivership as well as details of items such as the fees the receiver paid to its solicitors during the receivership. Such details also relate to or support the receiver's passing of its accounts. However, it is one thing for the court to approve the manner in which a receiver administered the assets it was appointed by the court to manage, but it is a different exercise for the court to assess whether the remuneration the receiver seeks is fair and reasonable (applying the generally accepted standard of review).

31 Moreover, the rule that precludes cross-examination of a receiver was made in the context of a receiver seeking approval of its report, not in the context of the passing of its accounts. When a receiver asks the court to approve its compensation, there is an onus on the receiver to prove that the compensation for which it seeks court approval is fair and reasonable.

32 As I will explain, the problem in this case was that the receiver's accounts were not verified by an affidavit. They were contained in the receiver's report. As a matter of form, I see nothing wrong with a receiver including its claim for compensation in its final report, as the receiver has done in this case. However, as I will discuss, the receiver's accounts and those of its solicitors should be verified by affidavit. Had KPMG verified its claim for compensation by affidavit, and had its solicitors done so, the issue that arose in this case would have been avoided.

33 The inclusion of the receiver's accounts, including those of its solicitors, in the report had the effect of insulating them from the far-ranging scrutiny of a properly conducted cross-examination when the motion judge ruled that the receiver, as an officer of the court, was not subject to cross-examination on the contents of its report. Assuming, without deciding, that the ruling was correct, its result was to preclude the appellants, and any other interested person or entity, that had a concern about the amount of the remuneration requested by the receiver, from putting the receiver to the proof that the remuneration, in the context of the duties it carried out, was fair and reasonable. When I discuss the third issue, I will indicate how the court is to determine whether a receiver's account is fair and reasonable.

34 A thorough discussion of the duty of a court-appointed receiver to report to the court and to pass its accounts is contained in F. Bennett, Bennett on Receiverships, 2nd ed. (Scarborough: Carswell, 1999) at 443 et seq. As Bennett points out at pp. 445-446:

> . . . the court-appointed receiver is neither an agent of the security holder nor of the debtor; the receiver acts on its own behalf and reports to the court. The receiver is an officer of the court whose duties are set out by the appointing order. . . . Essentially, the receiver's duty is to report to the court as to what the receiver has done with the assets from the time of the appointment to the time of discharge.

A report is required because the receiver is accountable to the court that made the appointment, accountable to all interested parties, and because the receiver, as a court officer, is required to discharge its duties properly. Generally, the report contains two parts. First, the report contains a narrative description about what the receiver did during a particular period of time in the receivership. Second, the report contains financial information, such as a statement of affairs setting out the assets and liabilities of the debtor and a statement of receipts and disbursements. At p. 449 Bennett provides a list of what should be contained in a report, which does not include the remuneration requested by the receiver. As Bennett states at p. 447, the report need not be verified by affidavit.

35 The report is distinct from the passing of accounts. Generally, a receiver completes its management and administration of a debtor's assets by passing its accounts. The court can adjust the fees and charges of the receiver just as it can in the passing of an estate trustee's accounts; the applicable standard of review is whether those fees and charges are fair and reasonable. As stated by Bennett at p. 471, where the receiver's remuneration includes the amount it paid to its solicitor, the debtor (and any other interested party) has the right to have the solicitor's accounts assessed.

36 I accept as correct Bennett's discussion of the purpose of the passing of a receiver's accounts at pp. 459-60:

> One of the purposes of the passing of accounts is to afford the receiver judicial protection in carrying out its powers and duties, and to satisfy the court that the fees and disbursements were fair and reasonable. Another purpose is to afford the debtor, the security holder and any other interested person the opportunity to question the receiver's activities and conduct to date. On the passing of accounts, the court has the inherent jurisdiction to review and approve or disapprove of the receiver's present and past activities even though the order appointing the receiver is silent as to the court's authority. The approval given is to the extent that the reports accurately summarize the material activities. However, where the receiver has already obtained court approval to do something, the court will not inquire into that transaction upon a passing of accounts. The court will inquire into complaints about the calculations in the accounts and whether the receiver proceeded without specific authority or exceeded the authority set out in the order. The court may, in addition, consider complaints concerning the alleged negligence of the receiver and challenges to the receiver's remuneration. The passing of accounts allows for a detailed analysis of the accounts, the manner and the circumstances in which they were incurred, and the time that the receiver took to perform its duties. If there are any triable issues, the court can direct a trial of the issues with directions [footnotes omitted] [emphasis added].

37 As for the procedure that applies to the passing of the accounts, Bennett indicates at p. 460 that there is no prescribed process. Nonetheless, the case law provides some requirements for the substance or content of the accounts. The accounts must disclose in detail the name of each person who rendered services, the dates on which the services were rendered, the time expended each day, the rate charged and the total charges for each of the categories of services rendered. See, e.g., Hermanns

v. Ingle (1988), 68 C.B.R. (N.S.) 15 (Ont. Assess. O.); Toronto Dominion Bank v. Park Foods Ltd. (1986), 77 N.S.R. (2d) 202 (N.S. T.D.). The accounts should be in a form that can be easily understood by those affected by the receivership (or by the judicial officer required to assess the accounts) so that such person can determine the amount of time spent by the receiver's employees (and others that the receiver may have hired) in respect to the various discrete aspects of the receivership.

38 Bennett states that a receiver's accounts and a solicitor's accounts should be verified by affidavit (at pp. 462-63). [1] I agree. This conclusion is supported by both case law and legal commentary. Nathanson J. in Halifax Developments Ltd. v. Fabulous Lobster Trap Cabaret Ltd. (1983), 46 C.B.R. (N.S.) 117 (N.S. T.D.), adopted the following statement from Kerr on Receivers, 15th ed. (London: Sweet & Maxwell, 1978) at 246: "It is the receiver's duty to make out his account and to verify it by affidavit." [2] In Holmested and Gale on the Judicature Act of Ontario and rules of practice, vol. 3, looseleaf ed. (Toronto: Carswell 1983) at 2093, the authors state: "[t]he accounts of a receiver and of a liquidator are to be verified by affidavit." In In-Med Laboratories Ltd. v. Ontario (Director, Laboratory Services Branch), [1991] O.J. No. 210 (Ont. Div. Ct.). Callaghan C.J.O.C. held that the bill of costs submitted by a solicitor "should be supported by an affidavit . . . substantiating the hours spent and the disbursements". This court approved that practice in Murano v. Bank of Montreal (1998), 163 D.L.R. (4th) 21 (Ont. C.A.), at 52-53, in discussing the fixing of costs by a trial judge under rule 57.01(3) of the Rules of Civil Procedure (as it read at that time). In addition, I note that on the passing of an estate trustee's accounts, rule 74.18(1)(a) requires the estate trustee to verify by affidavit the estate accounts which, by rule 74.17(1)(i), must include a statement of the compensation claimed by the estate trustee. However, if there are no objections to the accounts, under rule 74.18(9) the court may grant a judgment passing the accounts without a hearing. Thus, the practice that requires a court-appointed receiver to verify its statement of fees and disbursements on the passing of its accounts conforms with the general practice in the assessment of the fees and disbursements of solicitors and trustees.

39 The requirement that a receiver verify by affidavit the remuneration which it claims fulfils two purposes. First, it ensures the veracity of the time spent by the receiver in carrying out its duties, as provided by the receivership order, as well as the disbursements incurred by the receiver. Second, it provides an opportunity to cross-examine the affiant if the debtor or any other interested party objects to the amount claimed by the receiver for fees and disbursements, as provided by rule 39.02(1). In the appropriate case, an objecting party may wish to provide affidavit evidence contesting the remuneration claimed by the receiver, in which case, as rule 39.02(1) provides, the affidavit evidence must be served before the party may cross-examine the receiver.

40 Where the receiver's disbursements include the fees that it paid its solicitors, similar considerations apply. The solicitors must verify their fees and disbursements by affidavit.

41 In many cases, no objections will be raised to the amount of the remuneration claimed by a receiver. In some cases, however, there will be objections. Objecting parties may choose to support their position by tendering affidavit evidence. In some instances, it may be necessary for the court before whom the receiver's accounts are to be passed to conduct an evidentiary hearing, or direct the hearing of an issue before another judge, the master or another judicial officer. This situation would usually arise where there is a conflict in the affidavit evidence in respect to a material issue. The case law on the passing of accounts referred to by the parties indicates that evidentiary hearings are quite common. See, e.g., Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce v. Barley Mow Inn Inc. (1996), 41 C.B.R. (3d) 251 (B.C. C.A.); Hermanns v. Ingle, supra; Belyea v. Federal Business Development Bank (1983), 46 C.B.R. (N.S.) 244 (N.B. C.A.); Walter E. Heller (Can.) Ltd. v. Sea Queen of Canada Ltd. (1974), 19 C.B.R. (N.S.) 252 (Ont. S.C.); Olympic Foods (Thunder Bay) Ltd. v. 539618 Ontario Inc. (1989), 40 C.P.C. (2d) 280 (Ont. H.C.); Cohen v. Kealey & Blaney (1985), 26 C.P.C. (2d) 211 (Ont. C.A.) These and other cases also illustrate that courts employ careful scrutiny in determining whether the remuneration requested by a receiver is fair and reasonable in the context of the duties which the court has ordered the receiver to perform. I will now turn to a discussion of what is "fair and reasonable".

(3) Fair and reasonable remuneration

42 As I stated earlier, the general standard of review of the accounts of a court-appointed receiver is whether the amount claimed for remuneration and the disbursements incurred in carrying out the receivership are fair and reasonable. This standard of review had its origin in the judgment of this court in Atkinson Estate, Re (1951), [1952] O.R. 685 (Ont. C.A.); aff'd [1953]

2 S.C.R. 41 (S.C.C.), in which it was held that the executor of an estate is entitled to a fair fee on the basis of quantum meruit according to the time, trouble and degree of responsibility involved. The court, however, did not rule out compensation on a percentage basis as a fair method of estimating compensation in appropriate cases. The standard of review approved in Atkinson, Re is now contained in s. 61(1) and (3) of the Trustee Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. T.23. Although Atkinson Estate, Re was concerned with an executor's compensation, its principles are regularly applied in assessing a receiver's compensation. See, e.g., Ibar Developments Ltd. v. Mount Citadel Ltd. (1978), 26 C.B.R. (N.S.) 17 (Ont. H.C.). I would note that there is no guideline controlling the quantum of fees as there is in respect to a trustee's fees as provided by s. 39(2) of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. B-3.

43 Bennett notes at p. 471 that in assessing the reasonableness of a receiver's compensation the two techniques discussed in Atkinson Estate, Re are used. The first technique is that the quantum of remuneration is fixed as a percentage of the proceeds of the realization, while the second is the assessment of the remuneration claimed on a quantum meruit basis according to the time, trouble and degree of responsibility involved in the receivership. He suggests that often both techniques are employed to arrive at a fair compensation.

44 The leading case in the area of receiver's compensation is Belyea. At p. 246 Stratton J.A. stated:

> There is no fixed rate or settled scale for determining the amount of compensation to be paid a receiver. He is usually allowed either a percentage upon his receipts or a lump sum based upon the time, trouble and degree of responsibility involved. The governing principle appears to be that the compensation allowed a receiver should be measured by the fair and reasonable value of his services and while sufficient fees should be paid to induce competent persons to serve as receivers, receiverships should be administered as economically as reasonably possible. Thus, allowances for services performed must be just, but nevertheless moderate rather than generous.

45 In considering the factors to be applied when the court uses a quantum meruit basis, Stratton J.A. stated at p. 247:

> The considerations applicable in determining the reasonable remuneration to be paid to a receiver should, in my opinion, include the nature, extent and value of the assets handled, the complications and difficulties encountered, the degree of assistance provided by the company, its officers or its employees, the time spent, the receiver's knowledge, experience and skill, the diligence and thoroughness displayed, the responsibilities assumed, the results of the receiver's efforts, and the cost of comparable services when performed in a prudent and economical manner.

46 In an earlier case, similar factors were employed by Houlden J. in West Toronto Stereo Center Limited, Re (1975), 19 C.B.R. (N.S.) 306 (Ont. Bktcy.) in fixing the remuneration of a trustee in bankruptcy under s. 21(2) of the Bankruptcy Act, R.S.C. 1970, c. B-3. At p. 308 he stated:

> In fixing the trustee's remuneration, the Court should have regard to such matters as the work done by the trustee; the responsibility imposed on the trustee; the time spent in doing the work; the reasonableness of the time expended; the necessity of doing the work, and the results obtained. I do not intend that the list which I have given should be exhaustive of the matters to be considered, but in my judgment they are the more important items to be taken into account.

These factors were applied by Henry J. in Hoskinson, Re (1976), 22 C.B.R. (N.S.) 127 (Ont. S.C.).

47 The factors to be considered in assessing a receiver's remuneration on a quantum meruit basis stated in Belyea were approved and applied by the British Columbia Court of Appeal in Bank of Montreal v. Nican Trading Co. (1990), 78 C.B.R. (N.S.) 85 (B.C. C.A.). They have also been applied at the trial level in this province. See, e.g., MacPherson (Trustee of) v. Ritz Management Inc., [1992] O.J. No. 506 (Ont. Gen. Div.)

48 The Belyea factors were also applied by Farley J. (the motion judge in this case) in BT-PR Realty Holdings, supra, which was an application for the reduction of the fees and charges of a receiver. In that case the debtor had entered into the following indemnity agreement with the receiver:

> Guarantee payment of Coopers & Lybrand Limited's professional fees and disbursements for services provided by Coopers & Lybrand Limited with respect to the appointment as Receiver of each of the Companies. It is understood that Coopers & Lybrand Limited's professional fees will be determined on the basis of hours worked multiplied by normal hourly rates for engagements of this type.

In reference to the indemnity agreement, Farley J. made the comment referred to above that "[t]his is not a license to let the taxi meter run without check."

49 He went on to add at paras. 23 and 24:

> While sufficient fees should be paid to induce competent persons to serve as receivers, receiverships should be administered as economically as reasonably possible: see Belyea v. Federal Business Development Bank (1983), 46 C.B.R. (N.S.) 244 (N.B.C.A.). Reasonably is emphasized. It should not be based on any cut rate procedures or cutting corners and it must relate to the circumstances. It should not be the expensive foreign sports model; but neither should it be the battered used car which keeps its driver worried about whether he will make his destination without a breakdown.

50 Farley J. applied the list of factors set out in Belyea and Nican Trading and added "other material considerations" pertinent to assessing the accounts before him. He concluded at para. 24:

> In the subject case C&L charged on the multiplicand basis. Given their explanation and the lack of any credible and reliable evidence to the contrary, I see no reason to interfere with that charge. It would also seem to me that on balance C&L scores neutrally as to the other factors and of course, the agreement as to the fees should be conclusive if there is no duress or equivalent.

51 I am satisfied that in assessing the compensation of a receiver on a quantum meruit basis the factors suggested by Stratton J.A. in Belyea are a useful guideline. However, they should not be considered as exhaustive of the factors to be taken into account as other factors may be material depending on the circumstances of the receivership.

52 An issue that has arisen in this appeal has been the subject of consideration by the courts. It is whether a receiver may charge remuneration based on the usual hourly rates of its employees. The appellants take the position that the receiver's compensation based on the hourly rates of its employees has resulted in excessive compensation in relation to the amount realized by the receivership. The appellants point out that the compensation requested is approximately 20% of the amount realized. As I noted in paragraph 20, the motion judge held that "subject to checks and balances" of Chartrand v. De la Ronde and Prairie Palace Motel Ltd. v. Carlson, a "fair and reasonable compensation can in proper circumstances equate to remuneration based on hourly rates and time spent". It is helpful to consider these cases.

53 In Chartrand the issue was whether a master had erred in principle in reducing a receiver's accounts, calculated on the basis of its usual hourly rates, on the ground that the entity in receivership was a non-profit federation. Although Hamilton J. was satisfied that the master had appropriately applied the factors recommended in Belyea, she concluded that the master had erred in reducing the receiver's compensation because the federation was a non-profit organization. She was otherwise in agreement with the master's application of the Belyea criteria to the circumstances of the receivership. However, she added at p. 32:

> Having said that, I do not interpret the Belyea factors to mean that fair and reasonable compensation cannot equate to remuneration based on hourly rates and time spent.

By this comment I take Hamilton J. to mean that there may be cases in which the hourly rates charged by a receiver will be reduced if the application of one or more of the Belyea factors requires the court to do so to constitute fair and reasonable remuneration. I presume that this is what the motion judge had in mind when referring to "the checks and balances" of Chartrand.

54 In Prairie Palace Motel the court rejected a submission that a receiver's fees should be restricted to 5% of the assets realized and stated at pp. 313-14:

In any event, the parties to this matter are all aware that the receiver and manager is a firm of chartered accountants of high reputation. In this day and age, if chartered accountants are going to do the work of receiver-managers, in order to facilitate the ability of the disputing parties to carry on and preserve the assets of a business, there is no reason why they should not get paid at the going rate they charge all of their clients for the services they render. I reviewed the receiver-manager's account in this matter and the basis upon which it is charged, and I have absolutely no grounds for concluding that it is in any way based on client fees which are not usual for a firm such as Touche Ross Ltd.

Conclusion

(1) Bias

55 As I concluded earlier, the motion judge did not exhibit bias against the appellants or their counsel rendering the hearing unfair.

(2) Cross-examination of the receiver

56 The appellants did not have an opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz or another representative of the receiver in respect to its remuneration. Nor did they have an opportunity to cross-examine a representative of the receiver's solicitors, Goodmans, in respect to their fees and disbursements. This was as a result of the process sanctioned by the motion judge on the passing of the receiver's accounts in implicitly not requiring that the receiver's and the solicitors' accounts be verified by affidavit. Whether the appellants' lack of an opportunity to cross-examine the appropriate person in respect to these accounts should result in a new assessment being ordered, or whether this should be considered as a harmless error, requires further examination of the process followed by the motion judge in the context of the procedural history of the receiver's passing of its accounts.

57 Mr. Pape was not the appellants' original solicitor. The appellants were represented by another lawyer on February 9, 2001 when the receiver moved for approval of its accounts. The bank, which was directly affected by the receiver's charges, supported the fees and disbursements claimed by the receiver. Another creditor expressed concern that the receiver's fees were extremely high, but did not oppose their approval. Only the appellants opposed their approval. On February 16, 2001, which was the first return of the motion, the motion judge granted the appellants' request for an adjournment to February 26, 2001 to provide them a reasonable opportunity to review the receiver's accounts.

58 On February 26, 2001, the appellants requested a further adjournment to enable them to obtain an expert's opinion commenting on the fees of the receiver and its solicitors. The motion judge granted an adjournment to April 17, 2001 on certain terms, including the requirement that the receiver provide the appellants with curricula vitae and professional designations of its personnel, which the receiver did about two weeks later. The appellants' counsel informed the motion judge that he intended to examine "one or two people" from the receiver about its fees, whether or not they filed an affidavit. It appears that this was satisfactory to the motion judge who wrote in his endorsement: "A reporter should be ordered; counsel are to mutually let the court office know as to what time and extent of time a reporter will be required."

59 On March 13, 2001, the receiver wrote to the appellants to advise them of its position that any cross-examination in respect of the receiver's report to the court was not permitted in law. However, the receiver said that it would accept and respond to written questions about its fees and disbursements. On April 4, 2001, the appellants gave the receiver twenty-nine written questions. The receiver answered the questions on April 10, 2001, and invited the appellants, if necessary, to request further information. The receiver offered to make its personnel available to meet with the appellants and their counsel to answer any further questions about its fees. By this time, Mr. Pape had been retained by the appellants. He did not respond to the meeting proposed by the receiver, but, rather, wrote to the receiver on April 12, 2001 stating that arrangements had been made for a court reporter to be present to take the evidence of the receiver at the hearing of the motion on April 17, 2001.

60 This set the stage for the motion of April 17, 2001 at which, as I have explained, the motion judge ruled that the appellants were precluded from cross-examining the receiver's representative, Mr. Morawetz, on the receiver's accounts, but nevertheless permitted Mr. Pape, as his "proxy", to question Mr. Morawetz, as an unsworn witnesses, about the accounts. In the discussion between the motion judge and counsel for all the parties concerning the propriety of Mr. Pape having made arrangements for the presence of a court reporter, it appears that every one had overlooked the motion judge's earlier endorsement that a reporter should be ordered for the passing of the accounts.

61 Although the appellants had obtained an adjournment to obtain expert reports about the receiver's fees, no report was ever provided by the appellants. They did file an affidavit of Mrs. Parravano, but did not rely on it at the hearing of the motion.

62 It appears from the motion judge's reasons for judgment and what the court was told by counsel that the practice followed in the Commercial List permits a receiver to include its request for the approval of its fees and disbursements in its report, with the result that any party opposing the amounts claimed is not able to cross-examine the receiver, or its representative, about the receiver's fees. In denying the appellants' counsel the opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Morawetz under oath, at p. 26 of his reasons, the motion judge referred to the practice that is followed in the Commercial List: "The more appropriate course of action is to proceed to interview the court officer [the receiver] with respect to the report so as to allow the court officer the opportunity of clarifying or amplifying the material in response to questions. That course of action was pointed out to the Parravanos and their previous counsel . . . "

63 Mr. Pape, before the motion judge, and Mr. Teplitsky, in this court, submitted that neither the practice of interviewing the receiver, nor the opportunity given to Mr. Pape to question Mr. Morawetz as the motion judge's proxy, is an adequate and effective substitute for the cross-examination of the receiver under oath. I agree. However, as I will explain, I am satisfied that in the circumstances of this case Mr. Pape's questioning of Mr. Morawetz was an adequate substitute for cross-examining him. It is well-established, as a matter of fundamental fairness, that parties adverse in interest should have the opportunity to cross-examine witnesses whose evidence is presented to the court, and upon which the court is asked to rely in coming to its decision. Generally speaking, in conducting a cross-examination counsel are given wide latitude and few restrictions are placed upon the questions that may be asked, or the manner in which they are asked. See J. Sopinka, S. N. Lederman, A. W. Bryant, The Law of Evidence in Canada, 2nd ed. (Toronto: Butterworths, 1999) at paras. 16.6 and 16.99. As I observed earlier, in the cases in which the quantum of a receiver's fees has been assessed, cross-examination of the receiver and evidentiary hearings appear to be the norm, rather than the exception.

64 In my view, the motion judge was wrong in equating the receiver's report with respect to its conduct of the receivership with its report as it related to its claim for remuneration. As the authorities indicate, the better practice is for the receiver and its solicitors to each support its claim for remuneration by way of an affidavit. However, the presence or absence of an affidavit should not be the crucial issue when it comes to challenging the remuneration claimed. Whether or not there is an affidavit, the interested party must have a fair opportunity to challenge the remuneration at the hearing held for that purpose. I do not think that an interested party should have to show "special" or "unusual" circumstances in order to cross-examine a receiver or its representative, on its remuneration.

65 Where the accounts have been verified by affidavit, rule 39.02(1) provides that the affiant may be cross-examined by any party of the proceedings. Although there is a prima facie right to cross-examine upon an affidavit, the court has discretion to control its own process by preventing cross-examination or limiting it, where it is in the interests of justice to do so. See, e.g., Ferguson v. Imax Systems Corp. (1984), 47 O.R. (2d) 225 (Ont. Div. Ct.). It would, in my view, be rare to preclude cross-examination where the accounts have been challenged. Similarly, where the accounts have not been verified by affidavit, the motion judge has discretion to permit an opposing party to cross-examine the receiver, or its representative. In my view, the threshold for permitting questioning should be quite low. If the judge is satisfied that the questioning may assist in determining whether the remuneration is fair and reasonable, cross-examination should be permitted. In this case, I am satisfied that the submissions made by Mr. Pape at the outset of the proceedings were sufficient to cross that threshold.

66 Thus, whether or not there is an affidavit, the opposing party must have a fair opportunity to challenge the remuneration claimed. That fair opportunity requires that the party have access to the relevant documentation, access to and the co-operation of the receiver in the review of that material prior to the passing of the accounts, an opportunity to present any evidence relevant to the appropriateness of the accounts and, where appropriate, the opportunity to cross-examine the receiver before the motion judge, or on the trial of an issue or an assessment, should either be directed by the motion judge.

67 In this case, I am satisfied that the appellants had a fair opportunity to challenge the remuneration of the receiver and that the questioning of Mr. Morawetz was an adequate substitute for cross-examining him. I base my conclusion on the following factors:

- The appellants had the report for over two months.
- The appellants had access to the backup documents for over two months.
- The appellant had been given two adjournments to procure evidence.
- The appellants had the opportunity to meet with the receiver and in fact did meet with the receiver.
- The appellants submitted a detailed list of questions and received detailed answers. Mr. Pape expressly disavowed any suggestion that those answers were unsatisfactory or inadequate.
- The motion judge allowed Mr. Pape to question the receiver for some 75 pages. That questioning was in the nature of a cross-examination. I can find nothing in the transcript to suggest that Mr. Pape was precluded form any line of inquiry that he wanted to follow. Certainly, he did not suggest any such curtailment.
- Mr. Pape was given a full opportunity to make submissions.

(3) The remuneration claimed by the receiver and its solicitor

68 Having found no reason to label the proceedings as unfair in any way as they concern the receiver's remuneration, I shall now consider, on a correctness standard if there is any reason to interfere with the motion judge's decision on the receiver's remuneration.

69 In my view, the motion judge was aware of the relevant principles that apply to the assessment of a receiver's remuneration as discussed in Belyea and the other cases that I have reviewed. He considered the specific arguments made by Mr. Pape. He had the receiver's reports, the backup documents, the opinion of Mr. Morawetz, all of which were relied on, properly in my view, to support the accounts submitted by the receiver. Against that, the motion judge had Mr. Pape's submissions based on his personal view of what he called "human nature" that he argued should result in an automatic ten percent deduction from the times docketed by the receiver's personnel. In my view, the receiver's accounts as they related to its work were basically unchallenged in the material filed on the motion. I do not think that the motion judge can be criticized for preferring that material over Mr. Pape's personal opinions.

70 In addition, the position of the secured creditors is relevant to the correctness of the motion judge's decision. The two creditors who stood to lose the most by the passing of the accounts accepted those accounts.

71 The terms of the receiving order of Spence J. are also relevant, although not determinative. Those terms provided for the receiver's payment "at the standard rates and charges for such services rendered". Mr. Morawetz's evidence was that these were normal competitive rates. There was no evidence to the contrary, except Mr. Pape's personal opinions. It is telling that despite the two month adjournment and repeated promises of expert evidence from the appellants, they did not produce any expert to challenge those rates.

72 However, the accounts of the receiver's solicitors, Goodmans, stand on a different footing. Mr. Morawetz really could not speak to the accuracy or, except in a limited way, to the reasonableness of those accounts. There was no representative of Goodmans for the appellants to question or cross-examine. The motion judge did not give these accounts separate consideration. In my view, he erred in failing to do so. Consequently, I would allow the appeal to that extent.

Result

73 For the foregoing reasons, I would allow the appeal to the extent of setting aside the order of the motion judge approving the accounts of the receiver's solicitors, Goodmans, and order that the accounts be resubmitted, verified by affidavit, and that they be assessed by a different judge who may, in his or her discretion, direct the trial of an issue or refer the accounts for assessment by the assessment officer. In all other respects, the appeal is dismissed. As success is divided, there will be no costs.

Appeal allowed in part.

Footnotes

1 Among suggested precedents prepared for use in Ontario, at pp. 755-56, Bennett includes a precedent for a Receiver's Report on passing its accounts. The report is in the form of an affidavit in which the receiver, inter alia, includes a statement verifying its requested remuneration and expenses.

2 Although the practice in England formerly required that a receiver's accounts be verified by affidavit, the present practice is different. Now the court becomes involved in the scrutiny of a receiver's accounts, requiring their proof by the receiver, only if there are objections to the account. See R. Walton & M. Hunter, Kerr on Receivers & Administrators, 17th ed. (London: Sweet & Maxwell, 1989) at 239.

MOTION by creditor for order directing receiver to provide answers to questions posed by creditor, for order varying sale and approval and vesting order by unsealing confidential appendices, and for payment for goods used or consumed by purchaser; MOTION by receiver for discharge.

L.A. Pattillo J.:

Introduction

1 This matter involves two motions.

2 The first is by PricewaterhouseCoopers Inc. ("PwC") in its capacity as Court-appointed receiver (the "Receiver") of the respondents Kraus Inc. ("Kraus"), Kraus Canada Inc. ("Kraus Canada"), Strudex Fibres Limited ("Strudex") and 538626 B.C. Ltd. (collectively, the "Companies") for, among other things, an order discharging it and releasing it from any and all further obligations as Receiver, upon filing its discharge certificate.

3 The second is a motion by Equistar Chemicals, LP ("Equistar") for a) An order varying paragraph 8 of the Sale and Approval and Vesting Order dated June 11, 2012 by unsealing the confidential appendices; b) An order directing PwC to provide answers to questions posed by Equistar; and c) An order directing PwC to pay Equistar $35,425.25.

Background

4 Red Ash Capital Partners II Limited Partnership was a secured creditor of the Companies.

5 The applicant Pinnacle Capital Resources Limited, in its capacity as general partner of Red Ash Capital Partners II Limited Partnership ("Red Ash"), obtained an order of the Court dated May 28, 2012 appointing PwC Interim Receiver of Kraus, Kraus Canada and Strudex (collectively the "Operating Companies") In that capacity, PwC filed two reports, the first dated May 29, 2012 and the second June 10, 2012.

6 On June 11, 2012, again on Red Ash's application, PwC was appointed trustee in bankruptcy of each of the Operating Companies. On the same day, and pursuant to Red Ash's receivership application, PwC was appointed as Receiver of the Companies.

7 Also on June 11, 2010, the Court issued a Sale Approval and Vesting Order approving a going concern sale transaction (the "Sale Transaction") of substantially all of the assets of the Companies (the "Purchased Assets") contemplated by an asset purchase agreement between the Receiver and Kraus Brands LP (the "Purchaser"), a party related to Red Ash, dated as of June 11, 2012 (the "Sale Agreement").

8 Paragraph 8 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order provides that the documents marked as Confidential Appendices A, B and C to the Receiver's First Report contain confidential information and shall remain confidential and shall not form part of the permanent court record pending further order of the Court.

9 The Sale Transaction closed on June 11, 2012.

10 The reasons for the interim receivership were set out in the material filed in support of the initial application. The Interim Receiver monitored the receipts and disbursements of the Companies but did not take possession of the assets of the Operating Companies nor did it manage or operate their businesses. The Interim Receivership ended when the Receivership Order became effective on June 11, 2012.

11 Pursuant to the Receivership Order, the Receiver had a very narrow mandate. It was appointed specifically to complete the Sale Transaction in accordance with the Sale Agreement and convey the Purchased Assets "without taking possession or control thereof".

12 During the period of the Interim Receivership, and as suppliers received notice of the application to appoint a receiver of the Companies, the Interim Receiver and/or the Companies received claims for the repossession of property pursuant to s. 81.1 of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. B-3, as amended (the "BIA"). As at June 11, 2012, the date of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order became effective, a total of nine claimants, including Equistar, had delivered 81.1 claims totalling $2,248,734.

13 Because certain of the Purchased Assets were subject to the s. 81.1 claims (the s. 81.1 Assets), the Sale Approval and Vesting Order provided in paragraph 6 thereof that the s. 81.1 Assets do not vest in the Purchaser until such time as the applicable s. 81.1 claim is determined by agreement of the parties or by further order of the Court. The Sale Approval and Vesting Order further provides that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Purchaser is entitled to use and consume any s. 81.1 Asset, provided the Purchaser pays to the Receiver, in trust, the invoice amount of any s. 81.1 Asset used and consumed by the Companies or the Purchaser.

14 Paragraph 6 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order required that the Receiver file a report advising as to the s. 81.1 Assets in the possession of the Companies as at June 11, 2012 and "to the extent ascertainable, as at May 28, 2012."

15 In satisfaction of the requirement in paragraph 6 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order, the Receiver filed its Third Report dated June 14, 2012. The Third Report contained a list of the s. 81.1 claimants, the steps by the Receiver to determine the s. 81.1 Assets in the possession of the Companies on June 11, 2012, the steps taken to segregate and preserve those assets and the inspections by s. 81.1 claimants. It also detailed the Receiver's attempts to determine the s. 81.1 Assets in the possession of the Companies on May 28, 2012.

Equistar's s. 81.1 Claim

16 On June 8, 2012, the Receiver received a s. 81.1 claim in the amount of $551,951.00 from Equistar. Equistar supplied poly resin to the Companies.

17 On June 12, 2012, a representative of Equistar attended at Strudex's premises and was shown the silos where Equistar's goods were normally delivered. The representative did a visual inspection of the goods remaining in the applicable silo and was provided production records for that silo. A digital meter reading of the silo was also taken in the presence of Equistar's representative.

18 Subsequently, the Receiver assessed the s. 81.1 claims using the criteria set out in s. 81.1 of the BIA. The Receiver assessed the eligible value of Equistar's claim to be $35,425.25. On June 19, 2012, the Receiver advised Equistar of its assessment.

19 On July 31. 2012, Equistar's US attorney sent a letter to the Receiver taking issue with the Receiver's determination of value. Equistar's position was that its claim should include all goods Equistar delivered within 30 days prior to May 28, 2012. It took issue with the challenges the Receiver reported it had faced in respect of assessing the status of the s. 81.1 Assets as at May 28, 2012 and requested further analysis.

20 The Receiver responded to Equistar's attorney's letter on August 7, 2012. It provided further details as to Strudex's inventory system, records, tracking, etc. as well as specific detail in respect of the use of product supplied by Equistar to Strudex in the period between May 28 and June 11, 2012, according to the records available to the Receiver. The letter further stated that if Equistar wished to conduct further investigation of the matter, the Receiver would attempt to facilitate such investigation with the Purchaser. The Receiver heard nothing further from Equistar.

21 In the period since June 11, 2012, the Purchaser used or consumed the s. 81.1 Assets subject to Equistar's claim that were in the Companies possession on June 11, 2012. In accordance with paragraph 6 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order, the Purchaser paid to the Receiver, in trust, the invoice amount of the s. 81.1 Assets subject to Equistar's s. 81.1 claim that it used or consumed subsequent to June 11, 2012 in the amount of $35,425.25. The Receiver continues to hold such funds in trust pending agreement amongst the Purchaser and Equistar or further order of the Court.

Equistar's Motion

22 The Receiver's discharge motion was originally returnable on October 16, 2012. At the request of counsel for Equistar who were retained on October 9, 2012, the motion was adjourned to November 5, 2012 "to permit further review by creditor". Equistar had been previously represented in the receivership proceedings.

23 On October 24, 2012, Equistar's counsel sent a letter to the Receiver's counsel enclosing a list of 114 questions "for response by the Receiver in connection with the Receiver's impending motion for discharge."

24 The questions cover a very broad range of topics, including:

a. the relationship between the Receiver and Red Ash and the extent of Red Ash's control over the actions and decisions of the Receiver and the funding of the receivership;

b. information available to proposed purchasers about the existence of s. 81.1 claims and the goods supplied by them;

c. the extent of the relationship between PwC and the Companies and the extent of control exercised by PwC in that capacity prior to its appointment;

d. the extent of PwC's control over the sale process;

e. any advice given by PwC to the directors and officers of the Companies related to their obligations with respect to trading while insolvent;

f. the decision to sell the cash gleaned from suppliers products as part of the assets on closing;

g. the Liquidation Analysis (Confidential Appendices C) and whether or not the Receiver considered the impact on unsecured creditors in evaluating same;

h. the decision to use the interim receivership structure and its impact on suppliers;

i. forecasts of consumption of supplier goods available to or relied upon by the Receiver; investigations conducted by the Receiver, as described in the Third Report, which relate to the extent of goods supplied by Equistar;

j. specific questions related to the quantities of the goods supplied by Equistar;

k. general questions about how the Receiver perceived the treatment of unsecured creditors and the suppliers, and what steps, if any it took to advise the relevant parties in connection with same.

25 On October 31, 2012, the Receiver replied to the October 24, 2012 letter and advised that it had reviewed and considered Equistar's questions and in the Receiver's view, the questions were inappropriate, irrelevant to Equistar's s. 81.1 claim, had been dealt with in the Receiver's prior communications with Equistar and/or related to activities already approved by the Court. Accordingly, it advised that it would not be answering any of the questions.

26 On November 5, 2012, the Receiver's discharge motion was put over to November 7, 2012 to enable Equistar to bring its motion to obtain the answers to the questions and unseal the Confidential Appendices. It further amended its notice of motion to also seek payment of $35,425.25

Law and Analysis

(a) The Questions

27 A court-appointed receiver is an officer of the court and is in a fiduciary capacity to all stakeholders: Nash v. CIBC Trust Corp., 1996 CarswellOnt 2185 (Ont. Gen. Div.) at para. 6. The fact that the receiver owes fiduciary duties to stakeholders does not, however, entitle a stakeholder to go on a fishing expedition for information: Turbo Logistics Canada Inc. v. HSBC Bank Canada (2009), 81 C.B.R. (5th) 169 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]) at para. 18.

28 A court-appointed receiver is required to respond to reasonable requests for information from parties with an interest in the receivership: Battery Plus Inc., Re (2002), 31 C.B.R. (4th) 196 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]). What is reasonable must be determined, in my view, having regard to the interest of the requesting party and the relevance of the information sought based on the issue or issues. In addition, and as noted by Farley J. in Bell Canada International Inc., Re, [2003] O.J. No. 4738 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]) at para. 9, the objectivity and neutrality of the officer of the court is also a factor to consider.

29 Equistar submits that it is entitled to the answers to its questions in order to determine the correct amount of its s. 81.1 claim; who the directing minds were that caused the claim to arise; and whether or not any claim exists against any of the parties, including the Receiver for their actions in creating an unpaid debt owing to Equistar.

30 The vast majority of the 114 questions relate to the Receiver's relationship with Red Ash and the Companies prior to and during the receivership as well as various steps during the receivership. Those questions have nothing to do with Equistar's s. 81.1 claim. Those questions are nothing more, in my view, than a fishing expedition to see if Equistar can uncover some sort of impropriety which it suspects may have occurred but of which it has no proof. In that regard, it is instructive that Equistar has provided no evidence of impropriety before or during the receivership. All it has are suspicions of impropriety which is not sufficient to elevate its questions into the reasonable category.

31 Questions 12 and 13 and 75 to 97 relate for the most part to Equistar's s. 81.1 claim. The problem is that the Receiver has already answered Equistar's questions concerning its claim and provided it with all of its information. The Receiver duly and thoroughly investigated and provided all relevant facts it was able to obtain to Equistar. I would have thought that if Equistar had any follow up questions, it would have contacted the Receiver directly with them. Equistar provided no evidence that it requires further information or that to its knowledge, the information is available and the Receiver has failed to provide it. In fact, it is a reasonable inference from a number of the questions that Equistar already knows the answer.

32 The Receiver has no further information or documents relating to Equistar's claim. In my view, in responding as it has to Equistar's questions relating to its s. 81.1 claim, the Receiver has acted reasonably and in accordance with its duty. In the circumstances, it is not required, in my view, to answer Equistar's further questions which in the circumstances, are either irrelevant or unreasonable and in most cases, both.

33 Equistar's motion in respect of the 114 questions is therefore dismissed.

(b) Unsealing the Confidential Appendices

34 Equistar also seeks an order unsealing the Confidential Appendices as provided in paragraph 8 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order.

35 The First Report describes the three Appendices. Appendix A is a Confidential Information Memorandum prepared by PricewaterhouseCooper Corporate Finance with the assistance of the Companies management for the sale process in the fall of 2011. It describes the Companies business in significant detail. Appendix B is a detailed summary of the four highest offers received in December 2011 and the three revised offers received in January 2012 in respect of the sale of the Operating Companies. Appendix C is a Liquidation Analysis of assets and business of the Companies based on net book values as of March 31, 2012.

36 In the First Report, the Receiver requested the sealing of the three Appendices from the public record until after closing of the Sale Transaction or further order of the court. As noted, paragraph 9 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order provides that the Appendices contain confidential information and shall remain confidential and shall not form part of the permanent record pending further order of the court.

37 Equistar submits that because the Sale Transaction is complete, there is no reason to continue with the sealing order and the documents should be unsealed. It submitted that the two circumstances justifying a sealing order as set out in Sierra Club of Canada v. Canada (Minister of Finance), [2002] 2 S.C.R. 522 (S.C.C.) are no longer present here.

38 Counsel for Red Ash opposed Equistar's request to unseal the documents. It submits that given the Court determined, as part of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order, that the Appendices were confidential, Equistar's motion for unsealing should fail as it has not established that the documents are no longer confidential. In the alternative, it submits that the documents remain confidential. In respect of that submission, because it was only served with Equistar's motion material on the eve of the motion, Red Ash requests an adjournment in order that it can file material to establish that the documents in question still remain confidential.

39 As Newbould J. pointed out in Look Communications Inc. v. Look Mobile Corp., 2009 CarswellOnt 7952 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]) at para. 17, it is often the case that on the Commercial List sensitive documents concerning an asset sale are sealed in order to protect the sale process. Once that process has been completed, it follows that the information in the documents is no longer confidential.

40 I am mindful of the importance of public disclosure in the courts as discussed in Sierra Club. I therefore think, given the circumstances in which the Appendices were sealed, that Red Ash should be required to establish that the documents in issue still remain confidential. Accordingly, I intend to adjourn that portion of Equistar's motion, to be brought back on with proper notice to Red Ash in order to allow it to properly respond.

(c) The $35,425.25

41 The final relief requested by Equistar is the payment by the Receiver of the $35,425.25 it is holding in trust in respect of its s. 81.1 claim.

42 The Sale Approval and Vesting Order provide in paragraph 6(b) that a s. 81.1 claim is to be determined "by court order or by agreement amongst the Receiver, the applicable claimant to the s. 81.1 Asset and the Purchaser". Paragraph 6 (e) provides that where the Purchaser pays the Receiver in trust for the s. 81.1 assets its used or consumed, the cash payment "shall stand in place and stead of the s. 81.1 Asset, with such cash to be disposed of in accordance with" the determination as provided in paragraph 6(b).

43 There has been no court order or agreement with respect to Equistar's s. 81.1 claim. Equistar has not yet sought such determination. Accordingly, pursuant to paragraph 6 of the Sale Approval and Vesting Order, the $35,425.25 being held by the Receiver in trust cannot be disposed of until such determination.

44 Equistar's request for payment of $35,425.25 is therefore dismissed.

The Receiver's Motion

45 The Receiver's appointment was for the narrow purposes of completing the sale of the assets of the Companies and certain miscellaneous post-closing matters and reporting on the s. 81.1 assets in possession of the Companies at the time of its appointment and if possible, on May 28, 2012. Those purposes have been completed.

46 All s. 81.1 claims except for Equistar's have been resolved. The Receiver proposes that it pay the $35,425.25 it is holding in trust on account of Equistar's s. 81.1 claim to be paid to the Trustee in Bankruptcy of the Operating Companies to permit Equistar's claim to be settled or resolved by court order in the bankruptcy. In my view, given that PwC is also the Trustee, this is a reasonable solution.

47 The Receiver seeks a release and discharge from any and all claims arising out of its actions as Receiver save and except for gross negligence or wilful misconduct on its part. It is that request which prompted Equistar's list of questions. The release is a standard term in the Commercial List model order of discharge. In my view, in the absence of any evidence of improper or negligent conduct on the part of the Receiver, the release should issue. A receiver is entitled to close its file once and for all. There is no such evidence here.

Conclusion

48 Based on the material filed, the discharge order as requested by the Receiver should issue.
